Committee Debates Extension of Surtax

House Ways and Means Committee voted today to recommend outright repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit and moved on to consider extension of the income tax sur-

Acting Chairman Hale Boggs. D-La.. told newsmen that—as President Nixon recommended -the investment credit repeal was voted without exceptions.

However, Boggs said the committee wrote into the bill a special fast depreciation provision to encourage investment in equipment to abate air and water pollution.

A vote on the surtax was again predicted late today. There has been a strong push in the committee to extend it for Boggs' report indicated that committee members seeking to continue some investment credit for small businesses and elements of the transportation industry had lost.

The credit permits businesses to recover up to 7 per cent of their investment in equipment.

The committee also voted for the relatively noncontroversial proposal to postpone for a year reduction of excise taxes on automobiles and telephone service. Boggs said:

said meanwhile that the President has received assurance of both Republican and Democratic leaders in the House-and he believes in the Senate—that they will go all out to get an extension of the surtax.

Ford, with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, backing him up, said at the White House that it would be catastrophic at home and abroad if the tax bill were not approved. And, he said that Nixon feels there should be no compromise on a three-prong measure to extend the 10 per cent surtax for six months to January 1 and 5 per cent for the next six months, phase out a 7 per cent investment credit, and

But there are indications that some Democrats in the House Ways and Means Committee are balking at a surtax extension beyond six months.

The tax issue was uppermost at a weekly meeting of the President and Republican leaders of the House and Senate which ran on nearly two hours.

Dirksen said there was some discussion also of a supplementary appropriation bill before the Senate and some speculation that an amendment might be offered to withhold funds from the controversial antiballistic missile system.

Dirksen said there also is a possibility of an amendment to increase the spending authorization for the Peace Corps by $55

Focus On SDS Activity

WASHINGTON (AP) - The commander of the Michigan State Police detective division testified today that some leaders of the Students for a Democratic Society identified themselves as Communists in various publications.

Capt. Daniel C. Myre told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee that the SDS advocated revolution at numerous meetings held in Michigan during the last seven years.

Myre's appearance followed up testimony from a subcommittee staff member Monday that the militant group had held a workshop on sabotage and explosives. The subcommittee is probing campus violence.

Myre said that during a convention of SDS last year the group's national secretary. Michael Klonsky, 26, of Chicago, was asked if he were a Stalinist.

The captain introduced as evidence an article from the New Republic which quoted Klonsky as replying, "Having been a Communist only a few months I have difficulty understanding what you mean by that.

He said that Bernardine Dohrn, whom he identified as the SDS interorganizational secretary, also named herself as a Communist in another publica-

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., cautioned Myre about using the word Communist as if he were talking about "some monolithic organization." Ribicoff said about nine different splinter groups are fighting for control of the new left and radical movement

"I have the feeling a lot of innocents get sucked into the SDS without realizing they are part of a power fight," Ribicoff said.

Philip Manuel, a subcommittee investigator, testified there are at least seven Communist groups struggling for dominance in the United States to-

He identified two as the Progressive Labor Party, a pro-Chinese faction whose leaders, he said, were kicked out of another, the pro-Soviet Communist Party U.S.A., and who have become deeply involved in a fight for the control of the SDS.

High Interest Rates Stall Housing Plan

The tight money market is hindering efforts of the Sedalia Public Housing Authority to find a developer to undertake construction of 200 units here. This is the gist of comments by a spokesman for the Housing Authority and potential developers of the project.

Although the Housing Authority executed a contract Thursday with the federal government providing about $188,000 per year in rent assistance, the problem now is to find someone to build the

Determining Sex, Lucky Coincidence

Dear Ann Landers: A few weeks ago a woman wrote to say her husband kept pestering her to have another baby. They had four boys and he was dying for a little girl. She said if someone would give her a guarantee that the next baby would be a girl she'd get pregnant again, but she sure as the world didn't want a fifth

You told the woman there could be no guarantee and she'd have to take her chances. Well, Ann Landers, you are wrong. My great-grandmother told me the secret of producing a boy or a girl baby whichever you want. And it works! (I have two of each.)

The left ovary produces boys. The right ovary produces girls. The minute a woman discovers she is pregnant (or even suspects it) she should start to sleep on her left side if she wants a boy and her right side if she wants a girl. It's as easy as that! - Lucky Me

Dear You: Lucky is the word, all right, and that's what it was. Luck. The sex of a child is determined at the moment of conception. Once a woman is pregnant she can sleep on her bead and it won't affect the sex of ber unborn child.

Dear Ann: Please settle an argument between my dad and me. I'm 21, have a good office job and live at home. I've been going with a very interesting guy who has had a bad marriage and is determined not to make another mistake. Jordie's exwife didn't know beans about housework or cooking or ironing and he wants to make sure I can please him. Every week Jordie brings over his shirts so I can practice. He is very fussy about the amount of starch in his collars and cuffs. We always go over the ironed shirts and discuss what I did

My father gets awfully mad when he sees me ironing Jordie's shirts. I say if I learn now it will save a lot of arguments later. Please express an opinion. - Pressing Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) - The hot, behind-the-scenes fight to line up votes on President Nixon's Safeguard program has spawned a sub-battle between two New England senators over who gets credit for a proposed compromise on the controversial missile defense project.

The senators, Thomas J. Mc-Intyre, D-N.H., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., both serve on a special Armed Services subcommittee where the compromise proposal emerged.

The plan is dubbed the Mc-Intyre-Brooke compromise, or the Brooke-McIntyre compromise, depending on which office you talk to.

All indications point to a near deadlock on the Nixon plan with the fate of the Safeguard program in the hands of a half-dozen senators who have not committed themselves on the President's ABM plans. According to Brooke's office.

he suggested the compromise to the subcommittee May 22 when he urged deployment of the missile portion of the Safeguard system be withheld this year, while research continues on radars and computers.

A week later, on May 29, in a speech at Laconia, N.H., Mc-Intyre broke a long silence on the ABM to outline what he termed "a constructive and balanced alternative to a simple Yes or No vote on the administration's proposed Safeguard antiballistic missile system.'

McIntyre proposed that "no ABM missiles be deployed at the present time" but that "our research and development testing of radars and computers be continued."

As to the similarity of the proposals, McIntyre aides said the senator had been working gradually towards the idea, and his thoughts crystallized that week.

Though McIntyre and Brooke maintain hope of at least polling a strong minority vote in the 18-member Armed Services Committee, the hard-core ABM opposition outside the committee is very unenthusiastic about their proposal, especially the part about deployment at the two sites, which they contend is no compromise since the missiles wouldn't be ready for deployment next year anyway.

And the word from administration officials is that President Nixon opposes any compro-

Accidents

Ray Palmer, Warsaw, was arrested Monday for leaving the scene of an accident in the 2200 block of South Limit at 11:13

Palmer was also charged with careless and imprudent driving, speeding, and having a noisy muffler on his car by Sedalia

Palmer was fined $25 and costs in Magistrate Court Tuesday for careless and imprudent driving and $5 and costs, for a total of $50, for not having an operator's license and for using license plates that were not registered to the vehicle, a 1959 Pontiac. He was unable to post the fines and was confined in the city jail for 25

Roger Miller, 2430 Greenwood, driving a 1965 Plymouth, was stopped behind a truck on Limit when Palmer attempted to pass him on the right. Palmer hit Miller's right front fender but failed to stop. Two patrolmen in the area gave pursuit and overtook Palmer.

A 1967 Pontiac driven by Robert J. Logan, 2200 West Second, and a 1967 Ford driven by Rickie M. Weller, 3131 South Kentucky, were involved in an accident at 10:45 p.m. Monday at the Dog 'n Suds parking lot. There was slight damage to the rear fenders of both cars.

Mrs. Carol Barnes, president of CWU, said Tuesday that her organization is seeking better jail conditions, not necessarily a new jail. She stressed that CWU is not "fighting a battle" with the city, but hopes only to use its influence to improve jail facilities. She said the presence of CWU members at City Council meetings is also designed to better inform the women on city government procedures.

Rotarians Hear of Need For New Girl Scout Lodge

Mrs. Orrin C. Smith, Girl Scout district chairman for Pettis and Benton Counties in the Heart of Missouri Girl Scout District, told Rotarians of the need for a new Girl Scout lodge at Camp Sacajawea on Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

Mrs. Smith pointed out that Camp Sacajawea opened its Grils Scout Day Camp program on Monday with an enrollment of 210 girls and thirty adults for an eight-day camping session. She also pointed out that these children would return home at night, because Sacajawea offered only facilities for day camp sessions.

The real need is for a new lodge which would allow the camp to offer year-around facilities for meetings, parties, dances, and other Girl Scout activities, Mrs. Smith stated. She is helping the Girl Scout leadership raise $15,000 to underwrite the cash outlay needed to construct the lodge.

The facility will cost in the neighborhood of $27,500; however, much of the equipment and labor is being donated and the entire program may be accomplished for slightly over fifty per cent of the normal costs. As an example, Mrs. Smith pointed out that the Sedalia plumbers and a wholesale plumbing supply house were donating all of the material and installation of the plumbing.

Mrs. Smith is asking that the civic clubs underwrite a substantial portion of the cost

The floaters began their trip at Pulltite Ferry near Salem coming year. These were referred to the finance Sunday, and will end in Mark Twain National Forest June 22.

Appropriations Measure Is Sent to House

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) The Missouri House sent several minor bills to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes today and received an omnibus appropriations bill.

Among those sent to the governor were ones to: Raise the speed limit for passenger buses to 70 m.p.h. on four-lane divided highways during daylight. Give the state school and hospital at Higginsville a separate administration. Provide disability payments to firefighters for respiratory

The omnibus bill is a catchall measure to appropriate money for services not covered in other bills. It was read the first time today with no discus-

As the catchall bill was introduced it carried amounts for individual rebates on unused automobile licenses, non-highway motor fuel and so on. As it progresses through the Legislature it will pick up appropriations for new or expanded government services that may be added this session.

and pay the pledge over a two-or three-year period. The lodge as planned will contain 2,880 square feet. Camp Sacajawea is owned by the Girl Scouts and contains 32 acres. It is the largest Girl Scout camp in the Heart of Missouri District, located one and one-half miles southwest of Sedalia. The speaker was introduced by Floyd Priddy, program chairman. Dr. Stanley Fisher, Rotary Club president, announced that installation night for new officers will be held June 30 at Holiday Inn, and wives of Rotarians and guests are invited.

Aubrey Case led in group singing with James Edwards giving a lively piano accompaniment. Guests for the meeting were Rotarians Dale Stammerjohn, Boonville, and John Playter, Bolivar. Don Barnes made the introductions.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National 4-H Club Foundation announced today a drive to raise $8 million for enlarging the youth group's center in suburban Washington. The foundation, a nonprofit corporation, has enlisted the aid of 112 business executives to raise money for the national 4-H center project. Plans include new dormitories, class rooms and a meeting center, officials said. The expansion will mean an increase in the center's capacity to 800 from 300 at present.

Howard C. Harber, Englewood Cliffs, N.J., chairman of merly Corn Products Co., is head of the fund drive's advisory council.

Clubs in all states have pledged support and plan to raise one-fourth of the money. The balance-about $6 million -is expected to be contributed by business and industry, the foundation said. The center, which is headquarters of the foundation, was opened in 1959. More than 20,000 youths and leaders come to the 124-acre campus in Chevy Chase, Md., for meetings and seminars.

When you get married your wallet gets married.

Maybe all the years you were single you had a Blue Cross and Blue Shield card hiding in your wallet somewhere that protected just you.

Well, you've got to remember when you get married your wallet's going along for the ride, too.

And what's a married wallet going to do with a Blue Cross and Blue Shield card that just protects one of you?

The best thing to do is change your membership to a family plan before you get married. That way you're both protected from the beginning. See your group leader at work, or call us, LO 1-8700, to change to a family membership.

And if your wallet's never had a Blue Cross and Blue Shield card, send us the coupon for one as sort of a wedding present for your wallet and its new mate.

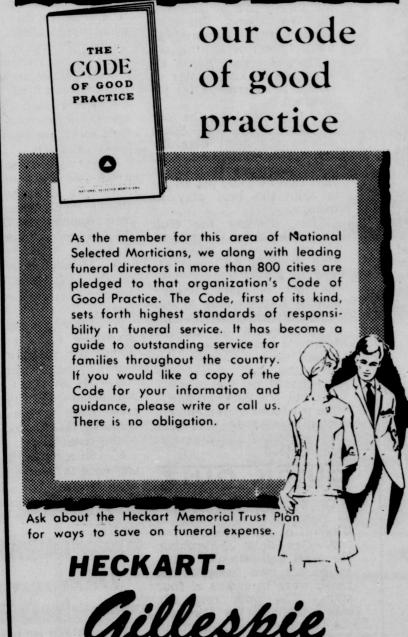

After all, what do you think the "blue" in "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue" stands for?

"The Irish grave-diggers at a cemetery near Richmond struck for higher wages the other day because they were receiving only $7.00 per day."

The above is not a 1969 news item. It appeared 105 years ago in Sedalia's first newspaper, "The Advertiser." Another item reveals that Mollie Goggin, of Cooper county, spoke out at Tipton, Mo., April 18, 1864 saying she was a rebel and would aid them. A military trial court sentenced her to confinement in the Alton, Ill., prison for duration of the rebellion.

Historical lore tells us that Pettis County's first newspaper was a weekly publication, "The Pettis County Independent," established by Bacon Montgomery in 1857. Many and varied have been the names since then, but for longevity the Sedalia Democrat tops the list because it became a going concern back in January 1868 over 101 years ago.

Latin American Envoy Hits U.S.

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - An unusual confrontation between two high-up Latin American diplomats, one for, one against the United States, took place in Washington last week

The first was Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdes of Chile, whose country has been a longtime friend of the United States but who urged an anti-U.S., isolationist policy for Latin America.

The other was Dr. Carlos Lleras Restropo, president of Colombia, a country once bitter against the United States over Panama, but who urged a non-isolationist policy of co-operation between the Foreign Minister Valdes had a meeting with President Nixon in the presence of other Latin-American ambassadors, in which he laid down a blunt near-ultimatum regarding U.S. relations with Latin America.

In talks with John Meyer, assistant secretary of state. Valdes was even tougher. He said that Latin America should, in effect, gang up on the United States, formulate its own policies, and then tell the United States to take it or leave it. The OAS would be junked or sidetracked.

President Lleras, in contrast, delivered a carefully thought-out speech supporting the OAS and inter-American co-operation. "I trust the inter-American system," he said. "It is the best instrument for the defense and promotion of ... 'liberty, equality and justice.' "We cannot and should not underestimate the magnitude and significance of what has already been achieved."

President Lleras did not refer to Foreign Minister Valdes by name, but it was quite obvious that he was replying to Valdes's isolationist doctrine. Quoting Simon Bolivar, the George Washington of South America, President Lleras said, "the great man outlined the organization of an assembly that could give us its advice whenever a conflict should arise; act as an arbiter or judge of eventual differences. Colombia and Mexico then sought to associate the United States within the projected system.'

Lleras also paid tribute to the Alliance for Progress.

Diplomats in the know explained that Foreign Minister Valdes is not really anti-U.S., but is just running for president of Chile. And the easiest way to get elected in some countries is to run against the United States

House Appropriations Chairman George Mahon, an LBJ crony, has quietly arranged to extend ex-President Johnson's government pay and allowances from six to 18 months. Both the President and vice president normally are kept on the public payroll — together with a small staff for six months after they leave office. This is supposed to allow them enough time to clean up their government affairs. Mahon, however, has wangled an extra 12 months for LBJ, who will wind up collecting a whopping $375,000 in postpresidential pay and allowances from the taxpayers... In a secret exchange of position papers, the State Department has notified the Kremlin bluntly that the United States is prepared to de-escalate the arms race any time that the Soviets will agree to a corresponding deescalation... claim is that Nixon should let the Voting Rights Act

This is the act which prohibits Southern states from using literacy tests to bar Negroes from voting. Since Johnson pushed the act through Congress, a record number of Negroes have been voting in the South, with several elected to the Georgia Legislature, and one Negro, Charles Evers, elected mayor of a Mississippi town — the first time a Negro mayor has been elected in Mississippi in 100 years.

Senator Thurmond wants this stopped. And he's been exerting so much pressure on the White House that the Nixon administration has been vacillating.

Three times Attorney General John Mitchell, charged with enforcement of the Voting Rights Act, has cancelled appearances to appear before the House Civil Rights Subcommittee. He and his chief in the White House couldn't make up their minds.

However, Mitchell has been called for the fourth time to testify Wednesday and he can't duck any more. It's understood he will recommend that Congress continue the Voting Rights Act but extend the ban on literacy tests throughout the entire nation, not confine it to the South alone.

-More Troops Coming Home-

Secretary of Defense Laird has promised Congressional leaders privately that he will take a "hard look" at the manpower needs with a view to bringing more troops home from Vietnam in October or November. Actually, Gen. Creighton Abrams, the American commander, had reported that 50,000 troops could be spared without hurting the war effort.

President Nixon decided to bring home only 25,000 because of intelligence reports that the Communists are massing for a summer offensive. He has also ordered an exhaustive intelligence survey of enemy strength. He wants to know whether the Communists have the power to continue large-scale fighting before he brings any more troops home.

QUESTION: Can members of a car pool collect damages from the driver if they are injured in an accident caused by his negligence? FACTS: Al, Bill and Carl organized a car pool for their convenience in getting to and from the factory. The arrangement worked well, each man taking his turn driving his own automobile. No one paid any money for riding with the other drivers. One afternoon, as Carl took his turn driving, the car was involved in an accident. Carl was in a hurry to get home and was going a little faster than the speed limit. The road was slippery from a recent rain and the car skidded into a ditch. All three of the men were shaken up in the crash and Al suffered several

"Carl, I'm going to sue you for this," Al exclaimed. "I'll lose time from work and have doctor bills to pay.

Can Al sue and collect damages under these circumstances?

ANSWER: The answer, in Missouri, is yes! Our courts have held that even though a driver and his passengers are engaged in a joint enterprise, this does not affect the passenger's right to recover for damages suffered because of the driver's negligence. Although some states have a so-called "guest statute" whereby a passenger cannot recover unless the driver was "wilfully negligent," Missouri law requires the driver to exercise the highest degree of care in all cases. Therefore, even though the driver and the passengers are engaged in a car pool, the passengers can recover for injuries suffered because of the driver's negligence.

However, some insurance policies do not cover the car owner where passengers are paying passengers. Therefore, all policies should be carefully checked where car-pooling arrangements are carried on or if money is paid to ride. This should be done both for the protection of the driver and the passengers.

Lift to Better Diet, Health Via Negroes' Bootstraps

By BRUCE BIOSSAT NEA Washington Correspondent

MOUND BAYOU, Miss. (NEA) Tufts University of Massachusetts came in late 1967 to this nearly all-Negro town to promote health care in a 500-square-mile area of Mississippi's rich-but-poor delta lands. It has stayed on to promote human survival.

Aided by a $152,000 poverty program grant, the school set up the Tufts-Delta Health Center here and, with a target population composed mostly of poor blacks, began a long series of meetings looking toward creation of local health associations and an areawide health council.

Early on, in one such meeting in a Baptist church at Rosedale, a mother of eight school-age children rose to express thanks for this new health effort. But then she went on to say the greatest need was not medicine but food. The note she struck was heard thereafter again and again.

The doctor teams and other specialists at the Center realized quickly that illness in its crisis form—whether minor sore throat or serious intestinal ailment—was not the real problem.

The real health enemy was an insufficient food supply, aggravated by life in broken-windowed shacks infested by rats and roaches and by an often contaminated drinking water source from shallow wells.

Across the delta's incredibly rich cotton land, where fertile top soil reaches to depths beyond 20 feet, the mechanical cotton picker (the smallest doing the work of 70 human pickers) has in a decade displaced the human labor pool. These people find little work and little to eat.

Says a center report:

"Doctors . . . are seeing persons who are slowly starving to death. We have observed entire families of school-age children who sit around all day because they don't have the energy to play . . .

"In the area served by the . . . center, we have estimated that 3,000 persons, or approximately one-fourth of the serviced population, are not getting enough food to be expected to maintain themselves at a reasonable level of physical health.

So a program conceived within the normally understood limits of "health care" grew first into a continuing exploration of all the environmental conditions of the poor Negro family's life, and then blossomed into a nutritionalagricultural program.

It began with "garden clubs" organized to encourage families to grow their own food necessities on small plots. But some 950 swiftly signed up, and many had no land to plant anything.

Negro farmers consequently donated land, lent equipment and labor to help the project get going. A white farmer at first lent and then donated his potato-planting tools. The acreage under "garden" cultivation grew until storage space for food was needed.

Now the "North Bolivar County Farm Cooperative," pushed along by that proverty program money, is booming. Ten communities are being served by its network of food outlets. More than 3,000 people are helped to get more food, and some 250 families in 1968 earned all or most of their food supply by working on the farm.

The idea of making it a job project as well as a lifesustainer has drawn the co-operative into ever-larger ventures. With the Ford Foundation getting into the act and land-leasing going forward, some 500 acres soon will be producing two to four crops a year in varying rotation.

The co-operative is eyeing markets in Memphis, Jackson and Mobile, and there is talk of packaging "soul food," differing combinations of vegetables and flavoring bits of meat, for northern outlets.

Meantime, the Tufts center has not forgotten its original goals. Health associations are being planned. And its doctor teams here treat a daily deluge of young and old patients in an outpatient clinic-coping hopefully with the ravages of poverty.

Today's hand decided a match in the World Bridge Olympiad of 1960. The bidding was the same at both tables. At the first table the deuce of diamonds was opened.

Opening lead—See Article.

This solved one of South's problems immediately — his possible diamond loser. All he needed to do was to avoid the loss of more than one spade trick. He wasn't wor-ried about 3-2 breaks and could do nothing about four to the king-10 in the West hand or five spades in either hand. Therefore his only concern was with four spades in the East hand and just one in the West hand.

If that was the situation, the best play would be to enter dummy with a heart or club, lead a spade and finesse the jack. A repeated finesse in trumps would handle the case of a singleton three, five or seven in the West hand. Therefore South went to dummy with a heart and finessed the jack of spades. West made his singleton king. Later on East's 10 of trumps set the contract.

At the other table the four of clubs was led. South studied the hand carefully and decided that he had so many problems in other suits that he could not afford to take the best play in trumps.

After winning the club lead in his hand, he played his ace of spades. When the king dropped, he could afford to enter dummy with the jack of clubs, finesse against East's trump 10 and eventually discard his diam o n d queen on one of dummy's hearts. Both declarers gave the hand the best percentage play based on the opening lead but the luck of duplicate produced a tremendous swing against the man who had received a diamond opening lead.

I understand that London's Angela Ince, a columnist for the Evening News, has been giving tips to British housewives on how to protect their husbands. One of her best ideas was that wives should insist husbands call home every night at 9 o'clock. Check Seat Carefully For Child's Car Safety

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Since more children die in auto accidents than from contagious diseases and all other accidents combined, the Physicians for Automotive Safety looked into the causative factors. Their surprising conclusion was that some of the special seats now marketed for use in autos by infants and children are worse than nothing. Less than one infant in 1,000 receives effective crash protection while riding in

The observers found that most car seats for tots are flimsy and are not securely fastened to the car. Not only do they allow the child to be thrown about in the car in a crash but the seats themselves may be hurled against other occupants of the car. In the false belief that the car seat will protect the infant, many parents attach these devices to the front of the auto although the child would be safer (but not safe enough) if it were attached to the rear seat.

Seats that are anchored securely to the car and hold the infant firmly in the seat are now available. Following a crash, the child can be freed in two seconds. If you want to insure the safety of your child, make sure the device you purchase will do the job expected of it.

Assurance for Families Of Captured Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Pentagon and State Department officials are holding meetings with families of more than 1,300 captured U.S. servicemen in a widening effort to assure them they have not been forgotten.

Two sessions already have been held and more briefings are planned in the next four or five weeks to inform the relatives about the government's efforts to free the men and ease their conditions of captivity.

Another purpose is to make sure the families of men missing or captured in the Vietnam war are receiving all the help to which they are entitled.

Richard G. Capen, deputy assistant secretary of defense, is head of the team of officials arranging the meetings as part of a new Nixon administration pro-

Sessions are tentatively planned in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Phoenix, Ariz., Denver, Colo., Kansas City, Mc-Guire Air Force Base, N.J., Westover Air Force Base, Mass., and an undetermined location in the southeastern United States.

Capen said the new effortwhich has included a series of statements by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird designed to focus world opinion on the side of U.S. prisoners—represents a switch from the last administration's policy.

"The policy in the past was not to say anything publicly for fear of reducing the possibility of release of the men or release of information by North Vietnam on their status," Capen said. "It seemed to us the time was now for us to express deep concern about these men.'

The most recent official casualty report listed 341 U.S. servicemen captured or interned and 987 missing. Most of the missing are believed to be prisoners in North Vietnam-pilots captured when their planes were shot down during the air

Laird sent key Pentagon officials a memorandum last March 3 stressing that he is "deeply concerned about the

> "I want to be assured that the military services and the office of the secretary of defense are doing all that we possibly can for the next-of-kin," Laird said at the time.

Later that month, Capen held the first private, informal session with about 75 wives in the San Diego area. He and his associates followed this up last week with a similar gathering of about 100 next-of-kin from the San Antonio and the Ft. Worth-Dallas areas of Texas.

The sessions are behind closed doors, Capen said, to preserve the privacy of the fami-

In addition to public statements by Laird deploring North Vietnam's treatment of U.S. prisoners, there have been behindthe-scenes moves by the defense secretary in this area.

In one such move several weeks ago, he briefed U.S. ambassadors in Belgiuni and Britain so they could solicit help from European countries in bringing pressure on North Vietnam for humanitarian handling of Americans in captivity.

So far, Capen acknowledged. Hanoi's response has been disappointing.

St. Louis Anti-Trust Suit Declined

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court declined Monday to consider an antitrust suit filed by three St. Louis dairies against a supermarket

The independent dairies contend a $2 million dairy plant built by the Kroger Co. with a capacity to supply 20 per cent of the market will give the chain the power to control prices and drive competitors out of business.

Kiwanis toppled Elks, 5-2 in the early contest at Liberty Park. Tony Lock was the winning hurler; Randy Masters was tagged with the loss.

Rotary won a shutout victory over Coke, 1-0. Joe Gerlecz was the winner, while Brian Kennon was the losing pitcher.

Keele Paint was a 6-3 loser to the Lions. Sanders, the winning pitcher also helped Keele Paint's cause by knocking a home run. Bechtell was the losing hurler. Adco's pennant hopes remained alive by virtue of their 14-4 stomping of Optimist. Herb Burlingame pitched the winners to their sixth victory of the season. Adco is currently tied with Lions; both own records of 6-1.

Stober was tagged with the erations from Kansas City to Oakland and despite the oppos-ing uniform, he's still well liked. But Monday night he robbed Jerry Adair of a hit in the ninth inning of the first game of the A's-Royals twi-night doubleheader, possibly taking away the winning run. Then, he smashed a double in the 13th to score Sal Bando and Danny Cater with what proved to be the winning Oakland run in the 7-5 contest.

Pat O'Connor

Central States champion Pat O'Connor will rish that wrestling prize when he swings into action opposite sturdy Tor Kamata in the Convention Hall ring tonight.

The event will highlight a four-match program featuring both heavyweights and midgets. Starting time is 8:30.

Texas rules will prevail for the title clash. Under those standards, there is no time limit and all'holds except the strangle are allowed.

O'Connor, a talented former world champion, took over as the top heavyweight in the Midlands by defeating hard-hitting Tornado Murdock's partner, K.O. Cox.

In Kamata, he'll be meeting a crafty veteran well skilled in both the American and Oriental styles of grappling. Kamata is adept with both Karate and Judo and leans heavily on chops, slams and power maneuvers to force opponents into submission.

A mixed tag team clash is booked for tonight's semifinal. In that action, Cox will team with midget Little Bruiser to go against a new twosome in the area, Alec Medina and midget Bobo Johnson. The 98-pound Johnson is one of only a handful of Negro midget wrestlers in the country.

Ronnie Etchison and Bob Geigel will renew their rivalry in the special event, while the opener matches Bruiser and

Keith Hankins

Keith Hankins has signed a letter of intent to attend State Fair Community College on an athletic scholarship for the 1969-70 school year. Hankins, an 18-year old forward from Joplin Parkwood High School, averaged 10.1 points and 11 rebounds per game his senior season for Head Coach Russ Kaminsky.

His former coach commented, "Keith is as quick as any boy on our squad and can jump extremely well with the tremendous spring in his legs. He has a real fine attitude and is a hard worker."

Hankins is 6'4" and weighs 175 pounds. He played both forward and center for the Bears at Parkwood.

He was awarded varsity letters in basketball, cross country and track in both his junior and senior years. Additional honors came to Hankins in the form of holding the presidency of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the vicepresidency of his graduating senior class, as well as being on Parkwood's honor roll.

The highest roundball honors awarded him were during his senior campaign when he was selected to the all-district team and honorable mention all-

POLLY'S POINTERS Use Car Floor Mats In Swimming Pool

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—We are getting our swimming pool ready to use. This reminded me of a good Pointer for those folks who have above the ground swimming pools with plastic liners. We save all our automobile floor mats (split in two) and place these in the pool under the legs of the ladder. This helps to prevent wear and tear at that par-ticular spot where the ladder is placed. Old dish drainers, sink or bathtub mats could also be used for this.—TONY double-header. Aaron, who played in all of the Braves' first 58 games, and Cepeda, who missed only one, never budged, except for a few trips to the water cooler. Alou, who has been sidelined with a fractured hand, saw action late in each game for defensive purstruck by Tony Gonzalez, acquired in a trade with San Diego over the weekend. Gonzalez smacked two home runs and drove in three runs in the opener as Phil Niekro became the major leagues' first 11-game winner.

Then, he drilled a two-run single that put Atlanta ahead in the second inning of the nightcap and before the side was out eight runs had crossed the

American League Roundup

By MIKE BRYSON

Associated Press Sports Writer Yes, Virginia, there is another Reggie in the American League —and he's making up for a little overshadowing by his namesake last weekend. Reggie Smith slammed two homers and drove in four runs to power the Boston Red Sox from behind and to an 8-5 victory over Cleveland Monday night. They were his third and fourth homers in three games, but the first two blasts in that string were almost unnoticed because of the AL's other Reggie-Jackson. Smith had a homer both Saturday and Sunday in the Red Sox' gigantic weekend slugfest with Oakland, but they received scant attention because the A's Jackson cracked four homers and drove in 15 runs—including 10 in one game-during the Jackson's production, meanwhile, took a big dip Monday night as the A's split a marathon doubleheader with Kansas City. The A's won the opener 7-5 in 13 innings, then dropped the night cap 3-2 in 12 innings.

Jackson managed only one hit -a towering 475-foot homer in the third inning of the openerin 11 trips.

In other AL activity, Denny McLain moved to just a shade behind his 31-victory pace of last year as Detroit edged the New York Yankees 3-2; Minnesota battered California 8-2, and Chicago stopped Seattle 8-3. The other AL teams were idle.

Smith's three-run homer in the seventh gave the Red Sox a 7-5 lead. Smith, who also had a double in five trips, added an insurance run with his 12th homer in the ninth.

"I changed to a lighter bat," said Smith, in explaining his recent surge of success. "I've also made a couple of other changes, but I'll keep them to myself . . don't want the pitchers to find

"I've also made some changes up here," he added. tapping his head.

Carl Yastrzemski staked Boston to an early lead with a tworun homer in the first inning, and Russ Gibson singled in two more in the fourth. But Ken Harrelson smashed a solo homer for the Indians in the fourth, then doubled in another run during a four-run sixth inning before Smith went to work. Jackie Hernandez was hit by a Jim Roland pitche wi the bases loaded in the 12th, forcing in the winning run as the Royals knocked Oakland out of first place in the West Division.

Dick Green cracked a tiebreaking two-run double with two out in the 13th, then scored on an error for the A's triumph in the opener.

Ironically, Hernandez' RBI double produced a 10th inning 2-2 tie in the nightcap after Oakland's Sal Bando hit a solo blast in the top of the inning. Bob Oliver had two homers for the Royals, one in each game. Green also homered in the second game.

McLain, hospitalized last week with a stomach virus, came back with a six-hitter for his 10th victory of the season, tops in the AL.

It also was the 100th career victory for the 25-year-old Mc-Lain, making him the youngest active hurler to reach that pla-

The sturdy right-hander, who has five defeats, is now only a few days off his 31-game victory pace of last season. A year ago Monday night, McLain beat Chicago 6-1 for an 11-2 record.

However, that triumph came in the Tigers' 63rd game of the season. They have played only 55 so far this campaign.

But McLain isn't overly optimistic about equalling last year's feat. "It could happen, polling places in said City. but it's highly improbable," he said. "I don't think anybody's going to win 30 this year. But I guess it's not impossible.'

Al Kaline backed McLain with a two-run homer in the fourth, and the Tigers scored another run in the fifth when Don Wert singled and scored all the way from first when center fielder Jim Lyttle bobbled a shoestring catch on McLain's fly ball sin-

Rod Carew stole home for a record-tying sixth time this season to help the Twins past California and into sole possession of the West Division lead, a half-game ahead of Oakland. Carew, who made his thefts of home six-for-six in the first inning, matched the league record set by Ty Cobb in 1915 and tied in 1917 by Bob Roth of Cleveland. Carew is just one shy of the major league record established by Brooklyn's Pete Reiser in 1946. Harmon Killebrew hit his 16th homer, in addition to an RBI single, for the Twins.

Billy Wynne, recalled only a week ago from Tucson of the Pacific Coast League, scattered eight hits for his first major league victory as the White Sox snapped a four-game losing

It was the fourth victory in four games for the Sox at Milwaukee. They won only one of nine there last season.

Gail Hopkins paced Chicago with a pair of RBI doubles-one touching off a three-run rally in the first, the other starting a five-run spree in the third.

Ben Hogan Is Given The Go Ahead

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Former golfing great Ben Hogan. 56, has been given the go ahead to start playing again, but he says he might limit his activity to social golf.

Hogan got a checkup at a hospital here Monday, and said his doctor told him he could play

He hasn't lifted a club since August 1968 because of an old arm injury which has required surgery three times. He was involved in a near fatal traffic accident in 1948.

After the checkup, Hogan said he felt fine and would begin golfing on a social basis in Fort Worth, Tex.

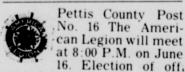

Asked about professional golf. Hogan said: "It would take me at least two years to get back in shape for any kind of tournament play.

Monsanto's new Lasso, the pre-emergent herbicide for soybeans, is priced with crop production economics in mind.

LASSO eliminates the extra expense of soil incorporation and minimal moisture activates the knockout powers of Lasso.

LASSO gives you a tight leash on weeds, a loose noose on soybeans and whatever crop you choose to plant next year, with no fear of crop damage due to carryover. LASSO works on all soil types . . . heavy soil, light soil, clay soil, sandy soil, soil high and soil low in organic content. Lasso will work for you. This spring, get the one economical herbicide that works. Get LASSO at MFA Central Cooperative

2200 Clinton Road, Sedalia, Mo.
